General Conditions for Online Booking

1. Introduction

This document contains the General Terms and Conditions governing stay reservations made by users through the website www.italianhospitality.com in both the Italian and English versions.

The term "User" refers to any individual and/or entity that, for any reason, accesses or uses the Services.

2. Acceptance of the General Booking Terms and Conditions

By using the online booking service, the User unconditionally accepts and agrees to comply with these General Terms and Conditions, declaring that they have read and accepted all the provisions contained herein. The User also acknowledges that Gruppo UNA S.p.A. is not bound to offer different conditions unless they have been previously agreed upon in writing.

Each booking, once confirmed, constitutes a binding contract under the applicable Italian regulations. The contract is binding for the User making the booking and for all other individuals mentioned in the reservation, including minors.

The User undertakes and agrees, once the booking procedure is completed, to save a copy of the document received via email and to retain these Terms and Conditions, which were already reviewed during the booking process.

3. Online Booking Service

a. On the UNA Italian Hospitality website (in Italian and English), various accommodation options are offered and described, along with the applicable rates and any special booking conditions (including those related to deposits, payments, cancellations, etc.).

These rates include VAT but do not include any taxes required by local regulations, such as the city tax, which must be paid directly at the hotel.

b. By specifying the number of guests, rooms, and any additional services they wish to include, the User may choose among the available accommodation options according to the applicable rate and the conditions specified at the time of booking.

The User acknowledges that certain restrictions may apply at the selected hotel regarding some services that may not be available during the stay or that may impose limitations on the use of certain hotel areas.

Before finalizing the booking, the total cost of the services will be summarized for the User, and they will be required to enter, in addition to their name, surname, and email address, a credit card reference as a guarantee for the exact fulfillment of the assumed obligations.

The User must check the accuracy of the details before finalizing the booking.

c. After submitting the request, the User will receive an email containing their booking number, a summary of the selected services and conditions, and a link to modify or cancel the reservation if needed.

The email will also include the contact details of the UNA Italian Hospitality Reservations Office (reservation@gruppouna.it - +39 02895261) as well as the references for contacting the property where the reservation was made.

The User must verify the booking confirmation and immediately report any errors and/or the need for modifications. Similarly, by contacting the above-mentioned references, the User may retrieve their booking at any time.

A User whose booking has been duly confirmed by UNA Italian Hospitality has full entitlement to enjoy the booked services.
